1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1. The definitions used in this Manual shall bear the meanings ascribed to them by the Promotion of Access to Information Act 2 of 2000 ("PAIA") and the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 ("POPIA").
- 1.2. J&J is a private body as defined in PAIA.
- 1.3. PAIA came into operation on 9 March 2001. PAIA seeks, among other things, to give effect to the Constitutional right of access to any information held by the State or by any other person where such information is required for the exercise or protection of any right and gives natural and juristic persons the right of access to records held by either a private or public body, subject to certain limitations, in order to enable them to exercise or protect their rights. Where a request is made in terms of PAIA to a private body, that private body must disclose the information if the requester is able to show that the record is required for the exercise or protection of any rights, and provided that no grounds of refusal contained in PAIA are applicable. PAIA sets out the requisite procedural issues attached to information requests.
- 1.4. This Manual constitutes J&J's PAIA manual. This Manual is compiled in accordance with section 51 of PAIA as amended by POPIA, which gives effect to everyone's Constitutional right to privacy and largely commenced on 1 July 2020. POPIA promotes the protection of personal information processed by public and private bodies, including certain conditions so as to establish minimum requirements for the processing of personal information. POPIA amends certain provisions of PAIA, balancing the need for access to information against the need to ensure the protection of personal information by providing for the establishment of an Information Regulator to exercise certain powers and perform certain duties and functions in terms of POPIA and PAIA, providing for the issuing of codes of conduct and providing for the rights of persons regarding unsolicited electronic communications and automated decision making in order to regulate the flow of personal information and to provide for matters concerned therewith.
- 1.5. This PAIA manual also includes information on the submission of objections to the processing of personal information and requests to delete or destroy personal information or records thereof in terms of POPIA.

8. ENTRY POINT FOR REQUESTS

- 8.1. PAIA provides that a person may only make a request for information, if the information is required for the exercise or protection of a legitimate right.
- 8.2. Information will therefore not be furnished unless a person provides sufficient particulars to enable J&J to identify the right that the requester is seeking to protect as well as an explanation as to why the requested information is required for the exercise or protection of that right. The exercise of an individual’s rights is subject to justifiable limitations, including the reasonable protection of privacy, commercial confidentiality and effective, efficient and good governance.
- 8.3. The Information Officer has been delegated with the task of receiving and co-ordinating all requests for access to records in terms of PAIA, in order to ensure proper compliance with PAIA and POPIA.
- 8.4. The Information Officer will facilitate the liaison with the internal legal team on all of these requests.
- 8.5. All requests in terms of PAIA and this Manual must be addressed to the Information Officer using the details in paragraph 3 above.

10. AUTOMATICALLY AVAILABLE INFORMATION

Information that is obtainable via the J&J website about the J&J is automatically available and need not be formally requested in terms of this Manual.

11. DISCLOSURES ON REQUEST

11.1. J&J maintain records on the categories and subject matters listed in clause 9. Please note that recording a category or subject matter in this Manual does not imply that a request for access to such records would be granted. All requests for access will be evaluated on a case by case basis in accordance with the provisions of PAIA.

11.2. Please note further that many of the records held by J&J are those of third parties, such as clients and employees, and J&J takes the protection of third-party confidential information very seriously. For further information on the grounds of refusal of access to a record please see below. Requests for access to these records will be considered very carefully. Please ensure that requests for such records are carefully motivated.

12. INFORMATION AVAILABLE IN TERMS OF POPIA

Categories of personal information collected by J&J

J&J may collect information relating to an identifiable, living, natural person, and where it is applicable, an identifiable, existing juristic person, including, but not limited to-

- information relating to the race, gender, sex, pregnancy, marital status, national, ethnic or social origin, colour, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental health, well-being, disability, religion, conscience, belief, culture, language and birth of the person;
- information relating to the education or the medical, financial, criminal or employment history of the person;

- any identifying number, symbol, e-mail address, physical address, telephone number, location information, online identifier or other particular assignment to the person;
- the biometric information of the person;
- the personal opinions, views or preferences of the person;
- correspondence sent by the person that is implicitly or explicitly of a private or confidential nature or further correspondence that would reveal the contents of the original correspondence;
- the views or opinions of another individual about the person; and
- the name of the person if it appears with other personal information relating to the person or if the disclosure of the name itself would reveal information about the person;

The purpose of processing personal information

In terms of POPIA, personal information must be processed for a specified purpose. The purpose for which personal information is processed by J&J will depend on the nature of the personal information and the particular data subject. This purpose is ordinarily disclosed, explicitly or implicitly, at the time the personal information is collected.

In general, personal information is processed for purposes of dealing with complaints under the CPA, procurement purposes, records management, security, employment and related matters.

A description of the categories of data subjects

J&J holds information and records on the following categories of data subjects:

- Employees / personnel of J&J;
- Any third party with whom J&J conducts business;
- Contractors of J&J;
- Suppliers of J&J.

(This list of categories of data subjects is non-exhaustive.)

The recipients or categories of recipients to whom the personal information may be supplied

Depending on the nature of the personal information, J&J may supply information or records to the following categories of recipients:

- Statutory oversight bodies, regulators or judicial commissions of enquiry making a request for personal information;
- Any court, administrative or judicial forum, arbitration, statutory commission, or ombudsman making a request for personal information or discovery in terms of the applicable rules;

- South African Revenue Services, or another similar authority;
- Anyone making a successful application for access in terms of PAIA or POPIA; and
- Subject to the provisions of POPIA and other relevant legislation, J&J may share information about a client's creditworthiness with any credit bureau or credit providers industry association or other association for an industry in which J&J operates.

Planned transborder flows of personal information

If a data subject visits J&J's websites from a country other than South Africa, the various communications will necessarily result in the transfer of information across international boundaries.

J&J may need to transfer a data subject's information to service providers in countries outside South Africa, in which case it will fully comply with applicable data protection legislation and ensure appropriate contractual and other measures are in place to protect the data subject's personal information when it is transferred

These countries may not have data-protection laws which are similar to those of South Africa.

A general description of information security measures to be implemented by J&J

J&J takes extensive information security measures to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of personal information in our possession. J&J takes appropriate technical and organisational measures designed to ensure that personal information remains confidential and secure against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage.

13. REQUEST PROCEDURE

Completion of the prescribed form

Any request for access to a record from a public body in terms of PAIA must substantially correspond with the "Form 2" included in Appendix A hereto, which can also be found on <https://inforegulator.org.za/paia-forms/> .

The requester is required to complete all text fields in "Form 2" in full and in a legible form providing all the necessary information to enable the Information Officer to identify:

- the records requested;
- identity of the requestor (and if an agent is lodging the request, proof of capacity). You will, in addition to this prescribed form, be required to submit acceptable proof of identity such as a certified copy of your identity document or other legal forms of identity;
- the form of access required;

- the postal address, email address or fax number of the requester in the Republic;
- if the requester wishes to be informed of the decision in any manner (in addition to written) the manner and particulars thereof

The requester must state that he/she requires the information in order to exercise or protect a right, and clearly state what the nature of the right is so to be exercised or protected. The requester must clearly specify why the record is necessary to exercise or protect such a right. The said "Form 2" should be submitted via email to emeaprivacy@kenvue.com. Once "Form 2" has been submitted, the appointed information officer will notify the requester of the prescribed fee (if any) payable before further processing the request.

A request for access to information which does not comply with the formalities as prescribed by PAIA will be returned to you. Failure to provide all necessary information to allow the request to be processed will result in a delay in the process until the required information is provided. The prescribed time periods will not commence until the requester has furnished all the necessary and required information.

The information officer may server the record, if possible, and grant access only to that portion requested and which is not prohibited from being disclosed.

POPIA provides that a data subject may, upon proof of identity, request J&J to confirm, free of charge, all the information it holds about the data subject and may request access to such information, including information about the identity of third parties who have or have had access to such information.

POPIA also provides that where the data subject is required to pay a fee for services provided to him/her, J&J must provide the data subject with a written estimate of the payable amount before providing the service and may require that the data subject pays a deposit for all or part of the fee.

Grounds for refusal of the data subject's request are set out in PAIA and are discussed below.

Payment of the prescribed fees

In terms of POPIA, a data subject has the right to request J&J to confirm, free of charge, whether or not it holds personal information about the data subject. However, both in terms of PAIA and POPIA, J&J is entitled to levy a prescribed fee (as set out in Appendix B) for the provision of records of personal information about the data subject or third parties in its possession.

The fees that may be charged are set out in Regulation 9(2)(c) promulgated under PAIA.

Where a decision to grant a request has been taken, the record will not be disclosed until the necessary fees have been paid in full.

Timelines for consideration of a request for access

Requests will be processed within 30 (thirty) days, unless the request contains considerations that are of such a nature that an extension of the time limit is needed, or unless the requester has submitted special reasons to the satisfaction of the Information Officer that circumstances dictate that the aforementioned time periods not be complied with.

Should an extension be required, you will be notified, together with reasons explaining why the extension is necessary.

Grounds for refusal of access and protection of information

There are various grounds upon which a request for access to a record may be refused. These grounds include:

- the protection of personal information of a third person (who is a natural person) from unreasonable disclosure;
- the protection of commercial information of a third party (for example: trade secrets; financial, commercial, scientific or technical information that may harm the commercial or financial interests of a third party);
- if disclosure would result in the breach of a duty of confidence owed to a third party;
- if disclosure would jeopardise the safety of an individual or prejudice or impair certain property rights of a third person;
- if the record was produced during legal proceedings, unless that legal privilege has been waived;
- if the record contains trade secrets, financial or sensitive information or any information that would put J&J (at a disadvantage in negotiations or prejudice it in commercial competition); and/or
- if the record contains information about research being carried out or about to be carried out on behalf of a third party or by J&J.

Section 70 PAIA contains an overriding provision. Disclosure of a record is compulsory if it would reveal (i) a substantial contravention of, or failure to comply with the law; or (ii) there is an imminent and serious public safety or environmental risk; and (iii) the public interest in the disclosure of the record in question clearly outweighs the harm contemplated by its disclosure.

If the request for access to information affects a third party, then such third party must first be informed within 21 (twenty one) days of receipt of the request. The third party would then have a further 21 (twenty one) days to make representations and/or submissions regarding the granting of access to the record.

14. REMEDIES AVAILABLE TO A REQUESTER ON REFUSAL OF ACCESS

If the Information Officer decides to grant you access to the particular record, such access must be granted within 30 (thirty) days of being informed of the decision.

There is no internal appeal procedure that may be followed after a request to access information has been refused. The decision made by the Information Officer is final. In the event that you are not satisfied with the outcome of the request, you are entitled to apply to the Information Regulator or a court of competent jurisdiction to take the matter further.

Where a third party is affected by the request for access and the Information Officer has decided to grant you access to the record, the third party has 30 (thirty) days in which to appeal the decision in a court of competent jurisdiction. If no appeal has been lodged by the third party within 30 (thirty) days, you must be granted access to the record.

15. AVAILABILITY OF THIS MANUAL

Copies of this Manual are available for inspection, free of charge, at the offices of J&J and on their websites, where appropriate.
